

ENGINEERING & CONSTRUCTION RISK INSTITUTE

Document number: ECRI-JV-001 (DESC)	Joint Ventures Introduction and Definition of Execution Terms	Page: 1 of 4
Revised: 1 September 2009

Purpose: The purpose of this document and the JV series of ECRI Practices is to address project specific Joint Ventures dedicated to a single project or group of projects. Longer term alliances or partnerships are not addressed, as the logic for their creation and methods of execution may differ from those discussed herein.

Application: The document is produced to improve E&C companies capabilities in the development of joint ventures and execution of the corresponding work while maximizing the benefits of the arrange while minimizing its risk. It applies to all joint venture applications.

ECRI Description file – The complete version if this document is located in the Sponsors Resources area of this website and requires a Sponsors Login to access.

DISCLAIMER

Subject to the disclaimer in the third and fourth sentences of this Notice, this document and its contents may be downloaded, reproduced, modified and adapted by any Sponsor of the Engineering & Construction Risk Institute, Inc. ("ECRI") for its exclusive use. Other reproduction, dissemination, use or modification of the Web site posting of this document is prohibited without ECRI's prior written agreement. ECRI, a nonprofit corporation incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia ("ECRI"), and its directors, officers, employees and advisers make no representations or warranties (express, implied or statutory) with respect to the accuracy or completeness of any information disseminated by ECRI or its suitability for any purpose and assume no responsibility for the content of such information or the consequences of using it, which shall be at the sole risk of its user. ECRI web site references to other organizations or individuals or their publications, programs, information or services does not imply any ECRI endorsement of any kind.